

AtomHacks Code of Conduct

Short version:

AtomHacks is dedicated to providing a harassment-free hackathon experience for everyone, regardless of gender, sexual orientation, disability, physical appearance, body size, race, or religion. We do not tolerate harassment of participants in any form.

Sexual language and imagery is not appropriate in any hackathon venue as well as any online or social media.

Participants violating these rules may be disqualified and asked to leave the event at the sole discretion of the event organizers.

Long version:

Harassment includes but is not limited to offensive communication related to gender, sexual orientation, disability, physical appearance, body size, race, religion, sexual images in public spaces, deliberate intimidation, stalking, following, harassing photography or recording, sustained disruption of talks or other events, inappropriate physical contact, and unwelcome sexual attention.

Participants asked to stop any harassing behavior are expected to comply immediately.

Sponsors, judges, mentors, volunteers, organizers, and anyone else at the event are also subject to the anti-harassment policy. In particular, attendees should not use sexualized images, activities, or other material both in their hacks and during the event. Attendees should not use sexualized clothing/uniforms/costumes, or otherwise create a sexualized environment.

If a participant engages in behavior that violates this code of conduct, the AtomHacks organizers may take any action they deem appropriate, including warning the offender or disqualification and expulsion from AtomHacks.

If you are being harassed, notice that someone else is being harassed, or have any other concerns, please contact a member of the AtomHacks staff immediately. AtomHacks staff can be identified as they will be wearing branded t-shirts.

We expect participants to follow these rules at all hackathon venues and hackathon-related social events.